

IICN Members - Associate Membership of European Academy of Neurology.

As a member of IICN, which is an Institutional Member of the EAN, all IICN members have Associate membership of the EAN. This means that IICN members can avail of membership privileges of EAN including the following

- Access to the e-learning platform eanCampus, including:
  - o Guideline Courses
  - o Clinical Skills courses
  - o Selected EAN Webinars and Joint Webinars
  - o Basic Courses on all EAN Scientific Topics, which are set to be introduced in Summer 2025
  - o Monthly highlights
- Reduced registration fee for the annual EAN Congress (save up to €100)
- One month's access to the Virtual Congress Platform, after the congress
- Option to participate in the EAN Advocacy Training programme
- Fast-track approval when upgrading to EAN Individual membership

See the link to follow for details regarding Associate Membership

<https://www.ean.org/join/about/institutional-members>

And also this link for further details of access to online resources

<https://www.ean.org/learn/elearning/open-access-to-associate-members>

Note that in order to ensure that you can avail of the privileges of EAN membership, you may need to contact the EAN at membership@ean.org to link your Associate Membership to your MyEAN account. The IICN sends a list of members of IICN to the EAN each year when transferring the IICN membership fee to EAN. The EAN may then refer to this list to verify membership of individuals and can then activate membership benefits for the individual.